

Hopewell Rocks

From Freddy Beach to Fundy City, it's all about New Brunswick this month
...because connection of The Great Trail, province-wide, has been achieved!

New Brunswick is now Canada's fifth province or territory to reach this milestone, after Newfoundland & Labrador, Prince Edward Island, Yukon and Saskatchewan. The provincial Connection Milestone will be celebrated [add link to event info behind "Celebrated"] on Saturday, October 15, 2016 in Fredericton.

Now, time to set our GPS to The Great Trail in New Brunswick. We've got fascinating stories to share about must-see landmarks, and some of the individuals who have helped to build and care for the Trail!

5 Must-See Sections of The Great Trail in New Brunswick

From wilderness hikes to urban promenades, you're bound to find an experience that resonates with you on The Great Trail in New Brunswick.

Read more »

From bald eagles to flying squirrels: A volunteer's take on the Trail in New Brunswick

Dedicated Trail volunteer Alonzo Leger has some pretty interesting stories from his many years of building and caring for the Trail in New Brunswick.

Read more »

New Brunswick's section of The Great Trail is now fully connected, province-wide!

Please join Trans Canada Trail (TCT) on October 15, 2016 in Fredericton, in celebration of New Brunswick's Trail Connection Milestone.

5 Things You May Not Know About New Brunswick

French fries, high tides and magnetic pulls...how much do you really know about New Brunswick?

Read more »

A Great Canadian Donor: Susan Amos

Susan Amos lives in Sackville, New Brunswick, and made her first donation to TCT in 1996. Susan started donating monthly in 2003. Find out why.

Read more »

What Will Your Legacy Be?

For a limited time, make a minimum gift of $1,000 and your name will be showcased in our celebratory pavilion in Ottawa.

Make Your Gift Today!

DONATE TODAY!

Facebook

Instagram

Twitter

